[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] WASHINGTON, July 6 .- The Silver bill came up again in the House this morning, on Mr. Traccey's motion to refer to Committee on Banking and Currency.

The sliver men were much encouraged as a result of the conference held last night, when it was decided to put the bill through without amendment. Some of them, it is true, still entertain doubt as to the effect of the bill upon the legal-tender quality of the Treasury, but they have been quieted with the assurance that if necessary remedial legislation can be enacted, and that there is to doubt the President would not base a veto on such an objection

On the other hand, Mr. Tracey was probably strengthened in his opposition to the bill by the statement made to him this morning that the President will not veto the bill if it reaches him. He does not name his authority, but evidently gives credence to the story and is using it as a rallying cry.

The House finally refused—yeas 43, pays 153-to refer the bill to the Committee on Banking and Currency.
